(London Time)

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Postgraduate students, trainees, clinicians, researchers, educators and anyone with an interest in psychoanalytically informed training and education.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- ✓ 9 presentations by postgraduate researchers, practitioners and trainers
- ✓ Interactive discussions and opportunities for networking
- ✓ A rich programme exploring contemporary issues in psychoanalytically informed training
- ✓ CPD Certificate available to all registered participants who attend the conference
- ✓ Live musical performance over lunchtime by Arieab Azhar, a Pakistan-based musician known for his renderings of traditional Sufi poetry and folk songs.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

In a rapidly changing world shaped by social, cultural, technological and geopolitical developments, psychoanalytically informed trainings are continually adapting to remain accessible, inclusive and resilient.

This conference brings together postgraduate students, trainees, clinicians, researchers and educators to explore the evolving challenges and opportunities facing contemporary psychoanalytic education.

Through dialogue, reflection, and shared learning, we will consider how innovation, inclusion and integrity can help shape the future of psychoanalytic training. We warmly welcome participants from diverse backgrounds and look forward to the insights, experiences and discussions that each attendee will contribute.
